A plan like this may be sufficient in today's dollars to meet average long term care costs and durations. You should also consider inflation protection alternatives. See below for reasons why you might consider less or more coverage than the $200,000/3% recommendation.

Why consider less coverage?

- Little or no family history of chronic conditions
- Affordability
- Desire to lock-in coverage today, but buy-up in the future
- Expectation of spouse or family members to provide significant informal care
- Plan to retire in a low-cost area
- Men – tend to require long term care for shorter durations than average

Why consider more coverage?

- Family history of chronic conditions
- Affordability
- Family longevity
- Offset effects of inflation with a higher Benefit BankSM today
- Plan to retire in a high-cost area
- Women – tend to require long term care for longer durations than average

Why do I need long term care insurance?

It is estimated that 60% of people, 65 or older will need long term care during their lives – either at home or in a facility.⁵ But accidents or illnesses requiring long term care can happen at any age. Medicare won't cover it, and you must be impoverished to qualify for Medicaid coverage.

Long term care insurance helps you protect your retirement savings and your family assets. It provides peace of mind.

Why buy long term care now?

Premiums are based on your age and health. Locking in now means lower premiums for you. Our Budget-Point PricingSM tool allows you to choose the right coverage based on a premium that makes sense to you.
